Their mission was clear – to protect their nation's interests abroad and execute high-risk operations in hostile environments. These warriors were handpicked for their extraordinary abilities, unwavering dedication, and unparalleled skills.

The Training

Before their deployment, these warriors underwent intensive training to ensure they were ready to face any challenge. Their physical and mental limits were pushed to new extremes as they mastered the art of combat, survival, and stealth.

From grueling obstacle courses to relentless simulation exercises, their training instilled discipline and prepared them for the harsh realities of war. They became experts in various forms of combat, including hand-to-hand combat, marksmanship, and tactical maneuvers.

Deployment to Hostile Territories

Once their training was complete, the warriors were deployed to some of the most hostile territories in the world. From dense, unforgiving jungles to arid desert landscapes, they faced countless dangers with unwavering resolve.

Operating under the cover of darkness and often behind enemy lines, these warriors executed strategic missions that had a significant impact on national security. Their actions remain classified, but their bravery and commitment to their country are widely recognized.

The Bonds Formed

Living in such extreme conditions for 15 months forged bonds amongst the warriors that will last a lifetime. They relied on each other for support, empathy, and strength in the darkest moments.

Friendships were born amidst chaos and uncertainty, creating an unbreakable brotherhood. They stood united, facing the trials and tribulations together, while preserving the integrity of their mission.

Moments of Triumph and Loss

During their tour, the warriors experienced moments of triumphant victory, marked by successful operations that thwarted threats and protected innocent lives. Each triumph refueled their determination to continue fighting.

However, their journey was not without sacrifice. They mourned the loss of their fallen comrades, those who made the ultimate sacrifice for their country. These brave warriors carry these memories with them, forever honoring the fallen.

The Homecoming

After 15 months of relentless dedication and service, the Sog Warrior Tour finally came to an end. The warriors returned home, greeted by the love and admiration of their families, friends, and grateful nation.

Their tour had transformed them, instilling in them a sense of accomplishment and an unwavering devotion to the values they fought to protect. Although their journey may be over, their spirit lives on, inspiring future warriors to embark on their own paths of strength and sacrifice.

In

The 15 months spent in the Sog Warrior Tour were a testament to the resilience and bravery of these extraordinary individuals. Through rigorous training and deployments to hostile territories, they showcased unwavering dedication to their mission and unwavering loyalty to their country.

These warriors deserve the utmost respect and recognition for their selflessness and sacrifices. Their journey, filled with triumph and loss, forever bonds them as brothers, and their legacy lives on as an inspiration to all who follow in their footsteps.

Join us in honoring the 15 months in the Sog Warrior Tour, a remarkable journey that exemplifies the true strength and sacrifice of our nation's warriors.

"When we cross the border: no ID, and it's kiss yourself good-bye if Charlie gets ahold of you."

In Vietnam, the Military Assistance Command's Studies and Observations Group (MACV-SOG) fielded small recon teams in areas infested with VC and NVA. Because SOG operations suffered extraordinary casualties, they required extraordinary soldiers. So when Capt. Thom Nicholson arrived at Command and Control North (CCN) in Da Nang, SOG's northernmost base camp, he knew he was going to be working with the cream of the crop.

As commander of Company B, CCN's Raider Company, Nicholson commanded four platoons, comprising nearly two hundred men, in some of the war's most deadly missions, including ready-reaction missions for patrols in contact with the enemy, patrol extractions under fire, and top-secret expeditions "over the fence" into Laos, Cambodia, and North Vietnam. Colonel Nicholson spares no one, including himself, as he provides a rare glimpse into the workings of one of the military's most carefully concealed reconnaissance campaigns.
