"When Bella and I travel to Flower we never know what to expect. But one thing is for sure—we always have fun. And today is no exception. Our favourite rabbit family invited us to Flower for Easter. We're going to help them hide treats for the village kids. Which means, Bella and I get to be bunnies. Cute, fluffy little bunnies. But shortly after we arrive, we discover a problem. A really big problem! All of the treats have been stolen! It's up to us to save Easter!"

The Fun in Flower series focuses on positive relationships. Each book also contains a common issue, and solution, that children experience. Among the topics tackled are:

- going first
- including others
- shyness
- sibling rivalry
- perseverance

In addition, with easy-to-read language, and no evil/mean/scary characters, even the most sensitive child can immerse themselves in the stories, making the books ideal for bedtime. Appeals to ages 4-9.
