Curriculum and Activities

The curriculum of the Awakening To Nature Teaching program is designed to awaken a deep sense of connection and oneness with nature. Participants engage in a variety of activities ranging from guided meditations in the heart of stunning natural landscapes to transformative discussions around ecological awareness and sustainability.

The program also offers practical lessons in bushcraft and survival skills, allowing participants to develop a sense of self-reliance and a greater understanding of the primal forces that shape the natural world. These experiences foster a profound respect and appreciation for the interconnectedness of all living beings.

The Role of Indigenous Wisdom

Integral to the Awakening To Nature Teaching program is the inclusion of Indigenous wisdom and teachings. The Australian Outback is home to many Indigenous communities, who possess a wealth of knowledge about the land and its spiritual significance.

Participants have the opportunity to learn from these custodians of the land, gaining insights into ancient traditions, dreamtime stories, and the profound connection Indigenous people have with the natural world. This exchange of wisdom creates a rich tapestry of understanding that deepens the participants' relationship with nature and fosters a sense of reverence and stewardship.

The Impact of the Program

Participants of the Awakening To Nature Teaching program often describe their experiences as life-changing. The deep connection forged with nature and the awakening of spiritual awareness create a profound shift in perspective, inspiring individuals to embrace a more sustainable and harmonious way of living.

Many graduates of the program have gone on to become advocates for environmental conservation, dedicating their lives to protecting the fragile ecosystems of the Outback and beyond. This ripple effect of change is a testament to the transformative power of the Awakening To Nature Teaching program.

A journey through the Australian Outback with the Awakening To Nature Teaching program is an opportunity to embark on a profound exploration of self and nature. Through the combination of experiential learning, Indigenous wisdom, and deep connection with the environment, participants undergo a transformative experience that often sets them on a path of greater ecological awareness and mindfulness.

In this fast-paced world, the program provides a much-needed pause, allowing individuals to reawaken their innate connection to the natural world and find solace and inspiration in its beauty. Are you ready to awaken to nature teaching in the Australian Outback?

Walkabout to Wisdom, an inspiring, beguiling, and evocative story from the Australian Outback, will leave you enthralled and enchanted so universal are its themes and so important is its message today.

'Liberated' from his investment banking career in New York after the September 11, 2001 attacks, Lachlan returned to his beloved Outback for a two year walkabout -- a journey during which he came to intimately connect with Nature's teaching and the life wisdom it makes available to all.

From the majestic vastness of its deserts to the rugged beauty of its ranges and gorges, Lachlan's soulful tale will take you to the most captivating places on the Australian continent. His love for the land, and respect for its capacity to heal and awaken all, will mesmerise you with its insight, honesty, and humanity.

Walkabout to Wisdom, quite simply, gives Nature the articulate voice we need to hear now more than ever.
