

Clark Gable Biography - The Legendary Warren Harris

Clark Gable, considered one of the most iconic actors of Hollywood's Golden Age, had a mesmerizing presence on the silver screen. His charm, talent, and rugged good looks made him a heartthrob of the 1930s and 1940s. However, behind the legendary persona lied the life of Warren Harris, a man who faced numerous challenges and triumphs throughout his career and personal life.

Early Life and Career

Born on February 1, 1901, in Cadiz, Ohio, Clark Gable had a humble upbringing. He grew up in a working-class family, and it was during his youth that he developed a passion for acting. After struggling to find his place in the entertainment industry, Gable's big break came when he signed a contract with MGM in the late 1920s. It was from this point onwards that Gable's star began to rise, eventually earning him the title of "King of Hollywood."

Hollywood Stardom

Gable's career reached new heights when he starred opposite Jean Harlow in the iconic film "Red Dust" in 1932. His ability to portray strong, masculine characters with a touch of vulnerability captured the hearts of audiences worldwide. Following this success, he starred in numerous box office hits, including "It Happened One Night" (1934), for which he won an Academy Award for Best Actor.

Clark Gable arrived in Hollywood after a rough-and-tumble youth, and his breezy, big-boned, everyman persona quickly made him the town's king. He was a gambler among gamblers, a heavy drinker in the days when everyone drank seemingly all the time, and a lover to legions of the most attractive women in the most glamorous business in the world, including the great love of his life, Carole Lombard.

In this well-researched and revealing biography, Warren G. Harris gives an exceptionally acute portrait of one of the most memorable actors in the history of motion pictures—whose intimates included such legends as Marilyn Monroe, Joan Crawford, Loretta Young, David O. Selznick, Jean Harlow, Judy Garland, Lana Turner, Spencer Tracy, and Grace Kelly—as well as a vivid sense of the glamour and excess of mid-century Hollywood.
