One of Rose's most notable works is "The Secret Treehouse." This enchanting tale follows the adventures of a group of friends who stumble upon a hidden treehouse in a mystical forest. As they enter the treehouse, they suddenly find themselves in a world filled with magical creatures and unexpected challenges. With every turn of the page, readers are drawn deeper into the story, eagerly anticipating the next twist and turn.

Another gem in Rose's collection is "The Mysterious Locket." This gripping story revolves around a young girl named Emily who discovers a mysterious locket hidden in her grandmother's attic. As she unlocks the secrets of the locket, Emily embarks on a thrilling adventure through time, meeting historical figures and overcoming obstacles along the way. This captivating tale not only entertains readers but also educates them about history in a fun and engaging manner.

Rose's ability to balance excitement, suspense, and educational value is truly extraordinary. Her stories not only capture the attention of young readers but also provide valuable life lessons and moral values. Through her writing, Rose encourages creativity, imagination, and empathy, fostering a love for reading that extends beyond the pages of her books.

In addition to her captivating narratives, Rose's attention to detail shines through in her illustrations. Each story is beautifully accompanied by vibrant and visually stunning illustrations that further enhance the reading experience. The combination of Rose's words and the artistic renderings truly brings the characters and settings to life, making readers feel like they are part of the story themselves.

Goha has been a key fixture of Middle Eastern stories for centuries. He is known by lots of different names, Goha or Joha, Hodja, Mollah, or Nasreddin, and is loved by grown-ups and children alike. Whatever people call him, he appears as an innocent or even stupid fool, but time and time again the fool turns out to be wise and to outwit those who call him a fool.

Some people believe he is an imaginary character, while others say he was a real man. There are so many Goha stories, that one can be found to fit almost any occasion.

Usually Goha is pictured as an older man, very poor, with a wife, a son and a donkey. If he ever finds some money, he is expected to lose it. But, he remains content, grateful that nothing worse has happened to him.
