Behind every successful family lies a compassionate and nurturing mother. My mother is more than a parent; she is an epitome of love and sacrifice. From the day I was born, she has been my guiding light, instilling in me values of empathy, resilience, and determination.

As a child, I remember her endless love and dedication. Whether it was staying up all night to comfort me during sickness or cheering me on during sports events, her presence was an unwavering source of strength. Her unconditional support propelled me forward in life and gave me the confidence to overcome any obstacles that came my way.

Part 2: My Father - The Wise Mentor

Equally influential in my life is my father, a figure of wisdom and guidance. With his gentle yet firm demeanor, he has been my rock during moments of uncertainty. His sage advice has taught me the power of critical thinking and the importance of making responsible choices.

From teaching me practical life skills to encouraging my intellectual pursuits, my father has always fostered a sense of independence and curiosity within me. His unwavering belief in my abilities has empowered me to strive for greatness and embrace challenges as opportunities for growth.

Part 3: My Sister - The Best Friend

Growing up with a sister has been a blessing beyond measure. She has been my confidante, my partner in crime, and my unbreakable bond. Together, we have shared moments of laughter, tears, and growth, creating cherished memories that will last a lifetime.

From late-night conversations about our dreams to supporting each other's endeavors, my sister has always been my biggest cheerleader. Beyond being my sibling, she is my best friend, with whom I can share my deepest fears and greatest triumphs.

Part 4: Me - Nurtured by Love

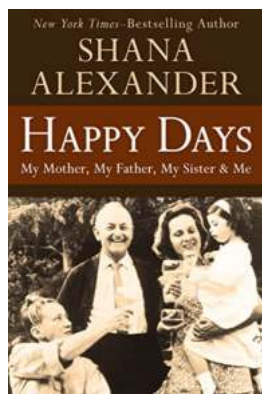

As an individual, I am a product of the love, support, and guidance bestowed upon me by my family. My growth has been shaped by the love of my mother, the wisdom of my father, and the friendship of my sister. They have given me the wings to pursue my dreams and the foundation to face life's challenges.

Through their influence, I have learned the importance of resilience, kindness, and staying true to oneself. They have nurtured me into a confident and compassionate individual, ready to make a positive impact on the world.

In the intricate tapestry of our lives, our family plays a vital role. My mother, my father, my sister, and I have formed an unbreakable bond, woven with love, support, and growth. They have shaped me into the person I am today, and for that, I am eternally grateful.

Join us in cherishing the special people in our lives and celebrating the unique dynamics of our own families. Let us strive to create a world filled with love, acceptance, and gratitude for the remarkable journey we undertake together.

Acclaimed 60 Minutes commentator and true-crime author Shana Alexander turns her journalist's eye to her own unconventional family—and herself—in this fascinating, moving memoir

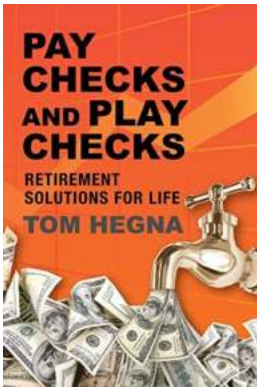

Shana Alexander spent most of her life trying to figure out her enigmatic parents. Milton Ager was a famous songwriter whose creations included “Ain’t She Sweet” and “Happy Days Are Here Again.” Cecelia Ager was a film critic and Variety columnist. They were a glamorous Jazz Age couple that moved in charmed circles with George and Ira Gershwin, Dorothy Parker, and Jerome Kern. They remained together for fifty-seven years, and yet they lived separate lives.

This wise, witty, unflinchingly candid memoir is also a revealing account of Alexander’s own life, from her successful career as a writer and national-news commentator to her troubled marriages and emotionally wrenching love affairs. She shares insights about growing up with a cold, hypercritical mother, her relationship with her younger sister, the suicide of her adopted daughter, and her reconciliation with her parents after a twenty-year estrangement. “I had to do a lot of detective work to uncover the truth about my parents’ lives,” Alexander said. “I knew almost nothing about them as people. But by the end they really did become my best friends.”
